E. B. HAMRICK BUILDING HAS NEW LOOK

Historic Building Blends With Others On Campus

E. Eugene Poston

Dear Alumni:

The big question at Gardner-Webb College today is "When will the college go into a four-year program?" I believe you hold the answer to that question. We must have the support of some large foundations if we are to attain the senior college status. The foundations study carefully the percentage of alumni giving.

The college is getting ready to start an annual alumni fund. Soon we shall be sending out information as to how you may participate. Our plans include an annuity program, an endowment fund, memorial programs, the Bulldog Club, and others. The college must have your prayerful and financial support if the four year program comes into being.

At the beginning of the present year we enrolled 1,193 students. Over 900 had to be turned away because of lack of space. Our applications are nearly double for next year.

The building program at Gardner-Webb is moving well. A new men's dormitory was occupied the first of this school year. The Charles I. Dover Campus Center is under construction. The Bost Swimming Pool is being covered for year round use. The E. W. Spangler Memorial Stadium will be started just after the first of 1966. The McSwain store building will be removed within days, and a beautiful entrance will be built. The E. B. Hamrick Building has been sandblasted and blends in with the other buildings. The Boiling Springs Baptist Church is constructing a new educational building. Plans are being drawn for a new classroom building. Approximately 50 additional acres of land have been purchased this year. Our campaign under the leadership of Mr. R. Patrick Spangler of Shelby is succeeding far beyond our dreams.

Please come to see what God is doing through the people of our area.

Sincerely yours,

About The Quarterly Cover

The E. B. Hamrick Building, painted white many years ago, has been sand-blasted and water proofed. Its old brick now blend into the harmony of other brick buildings on campus, turning it from an "eye sore" into a rather distinguished, old building which will give many more years service to the college. This is the oldest building on campus and it will serve entirely as a classrooms building after the new auditorium is constructed.

THREE BUILDINGS DEDICATED AT HOMECOMING-FOUNDERS DAY DINNER

Gardner-Webb College dedicated three buildings Nov. 6 during a successful Homecoming-Founders Day which saw the institution praised for the scope and depth of its educational and spiritual outreach.

The A. T. Withrow Science Building, the Bost Physical Educational Building and the Lutz-Yelton Residence Hall for men were dedicated during a luncheon attended by 300 persons. The luncheon followed an 11:30 meeting of Alumni officers and directors.

During the Alumni meeting, Dr. Eugene Poston, president, noted that the college is now ready to begin full time work in the area of alumni and that plans are now being formulated for employing someone as an executive secretary in alumni work.

Following the luncheon, an open house was held on campus followed at 5 p.m. by a barbecue attended by an estimated 200 persons. The Gardner-Webb Pep Band and Cheerleaders offered entertainment and Coach John Spencer introduced the football players.

Miss Celeste Ball, a sophomore from Charlotte, was crowned Homecoming Queen at halftime of the Chowan-Gardner-Webb football game Saturday evening. Gardner-Webb's team closed out the successful day whipping Chowan 30-14 before an estimated 3,000 persons in Blanton Memorial Stadium.

Formal dedication of the buildings was in the O. Max Gardner Building with portraits of four persons unveiled during ceremonies. Unveiled were portraits of L. C. Bost and Mrs. Jean Bost Gardner, A. T. Withrow and Mrs. Rush Stroup.

Lloyd Bost, son of L. C. Bost and brother of the late Mrs. Jean Bost Gardner, made the presentation of the Bost Physical Education Building and swimming pool. Bost said, "Our Christian colleges and our churches can continue to broaden and enlarge what

Our Alumni President Speaks

Dear Fellow Alumni:

Saturday, Nov. 6, 1965, was a great day on the Gardner-Webb College campus. The activities of the day were started with a meeting of the alumni council in the conference room of the Webb Administration Building. Representatives from the alumni, faculty, and administration were present.

Mr. Taft S. Putnam, vice president of the Alumni Association, tendered his resignation, which was regrettably accepted. The group then voted to appoint all committees soon and turn the business of replacing Mr. Putnam over to the new nominating committee.

Dan W. Moore, Jr.

A committee composed of Robert Abrams, Mrs. Betty Wise Bates and Mrs. Dorothy W. Hamrick was appointed to draw up a constitution and a set of bylaws for the Association.

Dr. Poston told the group of the need for an executive director of the Gardner-Webb Alumni Association. After much discussion the group instructed the chair to write a letter to the Chairman of the College's Board of Trustees asking them to take the matter under advisement prior to the adoption of the 1966-67 budget.

Robert Abrams, Director of Development, reminded the group that the film, "The Extra Dimension," is available for groups. He further urged all local chapters to seek renewed interest and to call on his office for any assistance he might be able to offer.

During January, February and March an all-out effort will be made to encourage all active local chapters to reactivate those that may be dormant, and to organize those needed in other areas.

Let me urge you to return to the campus as often as possible. Your heart will be filled with joy and pride and you will depart with a deeper sense of dedication to God and man.

Sincerely yours,

RUTHERFORD COUNTY AREAS TOP GOALS—DOUBLE 1959 CAMPAIGN EFFORT

Rutherford County backed Gardner-Webb College's financial campaign with vigor this year pledging and giving $171,882.50. Divided into a Forest City area and a Rutherfordton area, the county over doubled its 1959 gifts of $65,000.

S. B. Tanner, III, area chairman in Rutherfordton and Robert A. (Bob) Jones, area chairmen of the Forest City area selected top leadership in the area to get the job done.

How well is indicated by the Forest City area total of $40,410 and the Rutherfordton area total of $38,922.50. Both these totals surpassed their goals and added to monies and pledges received in preliminary solicitation of trustees, advisors and some few others ran the total for the county to $171,882.50.

The campaign had been over only a short time when a note of sadness crept in. Wade McKinney of Forest City, a section chairman in that area, was stricken by a heart attack and died.

Tanner's top leadership included Robert Harris, canvass chairman; John King, special gifts chairman; Forrest Hunt, '31, arrangements chairman and section chairmen, Wade McKinney, and Jack L. Lutz. Division leaders were Bill Blair, '57, Billy D. Jolley, '48, Mike Davis, R. Douglas Dorsey, '50, Milton Higdon, '51, and Leonard Lowe.

GARDNER FOUNDATION MAKES SUBSTANTIAL GIFT

The O. Max Gardner Foundation has presented Gardner-Webb College with a substantial check as first payment on a pledge for a new and as yet unannounced and unspecified building. President of the foundation, Mrs. O. Max Gardner, widow of the late Governor Gardner, made the presentation to Dr. Eugene Poston, president of Gardner-Webb College.

O. Max Gardner, a native of Cleveland County, served as Governor of North Carolina, Under Secretary of the Treasury under President Harry S. Truman and was appointed in 1947 to serve as Ambassador to the Court of St. James. He was a strong supporter of Gardner-Webb College during his lifetime and the college is named for the Gardner and Webb families.

The O. Max Gardner Foundation, Inc. was founded in 1942 as a non-profit, charitable, educational, religious, literary, and historical foundation. It was one of the first Federally recognized tax exempt charitable foundations in this area of the South.

During Governor Gardner's lifetime the records show that he personally and through his law firm and corporate interests contributed approximately one million dollars to Gardner-Webb College.

Since his death in 1947 the Directors and Officers of the O. Max Gardner Foundation have attempted to carry out his wishes as set forth in his Will and Correspondence: namely, that the Foundation devote the main portion of its assets and income to Gardner-Webb College's support and maintenance, and for college scholarships and student loans. Governor Gardner said in his Will that had it not been for a small scholarship and student loan he, as an orphan boy, would never have had an opportunity to go to college.

The O. Max Gardner Foundation since 1947 has made contributions and grants, given scholarship and loans in the sum of approximately one million dollars, primarily for the benefit of children in this area, Gardner-Webb College and other North Carolina educational and religious institutions.

At the present time the O. Max Gardner Foundation has on its scholarship and student loan rolls eighty-four college and post-graduate men and women. Sixty percent of this group is white and forty percent is Negro.

Gerald Mathis

Gerald Mathis Is Named All American

Gerald Mathis, Gardner-Webb College's outstanding fullback, has received honorable mention to the National Junior College Athletic Association's All American team.

Mathis, a bruising six foot, 195 pound Cowpens, S. C., youth has already drawn honors as the "Back of the Year" in Region 10, All Western Carolinas Junior College Conference and was voted by his teammates as "Back of the Year" for the squad.

Co-captain of this year's 7-3 squad, Mathis led the club in rushing and was last year's leading ground gainer in Region 10. Ferrum Junior College, which downed Gardner-Webb 6-0 in the last seconds of their Region 10 game, placed two on the team. Ferrum ended the year as Number One in the nation after defeating McCook College of Nebraska 16-0. Bob Newman, 6-3, 235 pound tackle for Ferrum, was named to first team, All American and a teammate, Frank Sorrells, a halfback, was placed on the second team.

Quadrupled Goal Announced In Stunning Kings Mountain Area Drive

Kings Mountain area campaigners for Gardner-Webb College took a belated curtain-call this week as their already surprising total surpassed the $100,000 mark,

A $5,000 gift from First Citizens Bank and Trust Co. pushed the organization to the figure which is quadruple their $25,000 goal and by far the most impressive campaign, percentage-wise, of any the college has conducted this year.

Active solicitation in the Kings Mountain area ceased in late October with 592,546 pledged or given but "quiet" work by campaign leaders continued resulting in this week's announcement of success by Charles Mauney, area chairman.

Richard E. (Dick) Maxey, executive officer of the new First Citizens Bank and Trust Co. which will open in Kings Mountain, made official resenatation of the pledge. Maxey is presently assistant vice-president of the First Citizens Bank and Trust Co. of Hickory. He and his family will move to Kings Mountain Dec. 20. His wife is the former Jane Julian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Julian of Fayetteville.

Maxey is a graduate of Lenoir Rhyne College and is presently a senior at the Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University and is vice-president of his class.

Gardner-Webb is in a $1,125,000 campaign for development and expansion of its physical facilities. Over $1 million has been raised in the Cleveland-Rutherford Counties area and in 1966 the campaign will move into Gaston County and into Cherokee County, S. C.

Trustees, Advisors Elect New Officers; Take Important Steps

A campus layout projecting Gardner-Webb College 20 years into the future and to an enrollment of 5,000 will be completed by the Spring of 1966. Trustees of the college voted Nov. 26 approval of the employment of Robert Rucker of Norman, Okla., to draw the master plan for future development.

In relation to the campus layout, it was announced that Clifford Hamrick, '22, of Boiling Springs was making available for purchase 24 acres of valuable land to the south of the campus and adjoining the present school's boundaries. The trustees voted to purchase the land which includes one and one-half acres bordering on N. C. 150.

College advisors and college trustees met separately in the A. T. Withrow Science Building to conduct business and then held a joint dinner meeting in the college cafeteria with faculty and staff members as guests.

Lloyd C. Bost of Shelby was re-elected chairman of the board of trustees, Mrs. Rush Stroup of Shelby was re-elected vice-chairman and Claude S. Hinson of Belmont was elected secretary. Mrs. O. Max Gardner, Sr., of Shelby was re-elected treasurer and Miss Charline Stamey of Fallston will continue as assistant treasurer.

New members of the board were introduced. They are, A. C. Garrison, Charlotte; Earl Groves, Gastonia; G. L. Kendrick, '13, Mount Holly; Forest C. Roberts, Sr., Gastonia; R. B. Scruggs, Tryon; Wade Short, Ellenboro and Carson Stout of High Point.

They replace retiring members: Clifford Hamrick, '22, Boiling Springs; W. T. Hendrix, '42, Winston-Salem; W. C. Hennessee, Sylva; Arnold W. Kincaid, '26, Kings Mountain; Joe T. Moore, Belmont; J. L. Nichols, Jr., Wallace and D. A. Rawley, Sr., High Point.

John R. Dover, III, '47, of Shelby was elected chairman of the Board of Advisors replacing Carlos Young of Shelby who has served for just over two years. Young was awarded a plaque during the joint dinner meeting for his service and drew praise from Dr. Eugene Poston, president.

Edwin C. Ford of Shelby is vice-chairman and Mrs. Paris Yelton (Donnis Gold, '24), of Shelby is secretary of the organization. The advisors assist and advise the "broaden its base with persons of other board of trustees and allows the college to denominations and from other states," according to Dr. Poston.

New members of the advisory board are Hoyt Bailey, Ralph W. Gardner, Harvey Hamrick, Charles F. Mauney, D. W. Royster, Sr. and Earl W. (Bud) Spangler, '47, of Shelby, Jim Beason of Boiling Springs and Walter W. Brown of Gaffney, S. C.

Dr. Poston told the trustees of the growing support offered the athletic program by the Bulldog Club and indicated that a final program of action on scholarships for athletics will be presented to the executive committee within the near future.

The president then made his report and stopped at one point to express his concern over the ever decreasing number of students studying for the ministry. Gardner-Webb, with 1,050 fulltime students, has 100 students studying for full-time Christian service. "We held our number up for many years but even now we see the number of young people entering Christian service on a fulltime scale dropping," Dr. Poston said.

The 100 figure is compared to 71 entering engineering, 154 entering teaching and 91 entering fields related to Biology at Gardner-Webb.

Victory Dinner Extends A 'Thank You' To Campaign Loyals

Gardner-Webb College extended its appreciation Dec. 17 to hundreds of leaders who made its $1,125,000 campaign successful, thus far.

J. M. Bertotti, manager-educational relations for the General Electric Co., was guest speaker at the 7 p.m. dinner in the Bost Physical Education Building.

National General Chairman of the campaign, R. Patrick Spangler of Shelby, expressed appreciation and recognized workers in the campaign. Spangler has spearheaded efforts which have reaped something over $1 million since March of this year.

The campaign continues after Christmas in Gaston County and in Cherokee County, S. C.

On hand for this massive "thank you" were 10th District Congressman, Basil L. Whitener and General Secretary-Treasurer of the Baptist State Convention, Dr. W. Perry Crouch along with other honored guests and college officials.

Lloyd C. Bost, chairman of the college board of trustees, presided and Rep. Whitener introduced Bertotti. Bertotti was born and educated in Michigan, is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and holds the Masters Degree from the University of Michigan.

He joined General Electric in 1943 after serving as a high school principal and teacher in Michigan. He has served successively at GE as manager of training, sales manager of the Carboly Department in Detroit, manager-personnel practices in New York, and two years as manager-public and employee relations research before being promoted to his present rank.

Bertotti served as U. S. Employer representative to the International Labor Office Conference on Salaried and Technical Employees at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1957 and at Cologne, Germany, in 1959. In 1964, Mr. Bertotti also served as a U. S. Employer delegate to the O.E.C.D. conference in Brussels, Belgium, on National Manpower Policy.

He has been active in several professional organizations, both as a speaker and as a contributor to their publications, including the National Sales Executives, the Society for Advancement of Management and the American Management Association.

Others on the program include Hoyt Q. Bailey of Shelby who introduced persons at the head table and recognized special guests. Ralph Webb Gardner of Shelby who introduced the college board of trustee members, John R. Dover, III, '47, of Shelby who introduced college board of advisor members, Thomas J. McGraw, '49, college vice-president, who introduced Spangler, O. W. Ferrene, director with Marts and Lundy of New York City who had brief remarks and Dr. E. Eugene Poston, '43, president of the college, who made brief remarks and gave the benediction.

Mrs. Nettie Rayle Gidney sang a solo to open the meeting following the invocation by Dr. Joseph McClain, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Shelby. Student Body President, Bartlett Dougherty brought greetings from the Gardner-Webb student body.

Footnotes To Gardner-Webb History

Ten of Gardner-Webb College's Basketball games are being broadcast this year by WBBO, Forest City. Games to be broadcast over FM during January include Wingate on Jan. 18, Brevard on Jan. 22 and Montreat Anderson on Jan. 24. All others were carried in December. The station hopes it will be able to broadcast the Western Carolinas Junior College Tournament Feb. 24-26.

support we give them after we have long left this arena of life. It is the lot of man to be here only a short period of time, relatively speaking, but it is through him that vision must be born and institutions such as Gardner-Webb be assured of influence and outreach for generations to come."

Paris Yelton, spokesman for the Lutz-Yelton Company and stockholders, said, "We have long been interested in Gardner-Webb College and its future because of the many advantages and opportunities that it offers to the youth and citizens of this and surrounding counties. We believe in free enterprise and are convinced that Gardner-Webb College is contributing greatly in making a better place in which to live.

A. T. Withrow, a native of Rutherford County and now a resident of Charlotte, challenged alumni and guests to "aim at a star, if you hit a stump." He recalled the early struggles of Gardner-Webb and of what it mean to him personally to know he has a part in making possible the education of many young men and women. "What we have here can be a blessing to the area, the nation and perhaps the world," said Withrow.

First Citizens Bank and Trust Co. aids many colleges out of its Holding Foundation. The bank was started in 1898 in Smithfield and has grown to a point that it is located in 47 cities. Lewis R. Holding is president, Robert P. Holding is chairman of the board, Frank Holding is vice-president and George Brodrick of Charlotte is regional vice-president.

WINNING FLORAL ARRANGEMENT . . . at the Cleveland County Fair this year represented "Tomorrow's Leaders". This outstanding arrangement by the Dogwood Garden Club of Shelby won numerous ribbons and its theme was built around Gardner-Webb as the county's only college. Judges called the interpretation "excellent" with the "spiritual, scientific, educational and recreational characteristics well balanced." As you note the college seal, athletic mascot, a cap and gown, microscope and other features were blended into the arrangement along with carnations and other floral displays.

Largest Enrollment In History Has Variety

Gardner-Webb College's largest enrollment in history comes from 59 counties of North Carolina, plus 14 states of the Union, the District of Columbia and two foreign nations.

Enrollment is 1,133 for fulltime boarding and day students and 60 in Evening College for a total of 1,193 students. Of the fulltime students, 816 are freshmen and 303 are sophomores with 677 of them being boarding or community boarding students and 514 of them commuting students.

Boarding women have what might be considered by them a "wonderful" ratio with 232 coeds on campus and 358 boarding males.

Tar Heel students are by far more numerous with 840 on campus followed by South Carolina who number 216. There are 29 from Virginia, seven from Florida, six from New Jersey, five from Pennsylvania, four each from New York State and Maryland, three each from the District of Columbia and Georgia, two from Delaware, and one each from Alabama, New Hampshire, Ohio and Tennessee. There are two foreign students on campus—one from Japan and one from Lebanon.

O. P. Hamrick At Publishing Crossroads . . .

By MAC HILL

BOILING SPRINGS—Oliver Paul Hamrick, '11, a fixture hereabouts and known by about every soul in the Southwestern corner of the county, may soon become a legend throughout Cleveland and the surrounding area.

Hamrick, known as "Mr. O. P." by some, but as "Fessor" by most, has written a book. It's an autobiography that also is a story about Boiling Springs and about Gardner-Webb College, for the author's life is inter-woven around both the town and the school.

The book, to be published soon in paperback, is titled "I Was Born at the Crossroads." It is meant literally and figuratively. Hamrick was born 73 years ago in a house that stood at the intersection of dirt roads about two miles north of here. And, it was during a time when this community began bouncing back from post Civil War turmoil.

As Hamrick traces his life through the 12 chapters and 150 pages of text, the reader is allowed a peek into the memory of a man who has played a major role in the development of his town, and in the growth of the school where he was the second student to enroll when doors were opened in 1907.

The spark that ignited Hamrick's idea to turn author was fanned by hospitalization in Florence, Italy, three summers ago. Always a lover of travel Hamrick was on a 37-day tour of Europe when on the ninth day he suffered a heart attack and spent 24 days in bed.

"I couldn't speak Italian, and the nurses couldn't speak English so I had lots of time to think," Hamrick recalled, adding that he got down to serious work on the book after returning home and finally submitted a rough draft to his publisher earlier this summer.

He was reading galley proofs the other afternoon before taking time out for an interview. "A number of friends and relatives have already asked to buy a copy," Hamrick said of his work while thumbing through a little black book with 100 or so names penciled in.

O. P. Hamrick . . . Writes Book

"I'll also have about eight pages of pictures," he added, noting that the photographs would be situated so as to contrast the old days with the new.

Each chapter is spiced with human interest and the reflections bounce from name to name, rather than year to year. Dates are mentioned, but they are incidental for Hamrick's book is of personalities with emphasis on people, not events.

Near the beginning are reminiscences of the war between the states. The author includes a letter from a convicted deserter, doomed to be shot at the stake for merely extending a furlough by a few days to make arrangements to feed and clothe a sickly wife and a houseful of hungry children.

The opening chapter also mentions early backgrounds of the Hamrick family that came over from Germany, and of other early settlers in the area. The author also recalls his grandfather building the area's first cotton gin—a facility that produced only three bales per week. This ancestor later established a general store in 1825.

The third chapter tells the story of Hamrick being the second student to enroll at Boiling Springs Baptist High School. The author's father was a trustee and heard in advance of the registration time. However, another trustee also had a son of high school age and that lad got in line moments before Hamrick.

In 1911 the author graduated at the top of his class and his senior year took all college courses except for 12th grade English. This enabled him to later earn his degree from Wake Forest College in only three years.

After that Hamrick returned to what is now Gardner-Webb College as business manager and English teacher, the start of a 43-year career in education here that ended in retirement eight years ago.

Chapter four tells of bungling developers who attempted to merge the two boiling springs, pour concrete steps down to the area, and generally beautify the spot. Instead, in blasting or digging, workers apparently released underground pressure and the spring ceased to bubble up its mixture of pure white sand and cold water.

During the following few chapters the author notes the school's transition to junior college status in 1929 and of the difficult depression years that followed. He recalls working three years without salary.

"We ran up a $1,500 grocery bill at my father's store," Hamrick remembers. "I had a little insurance business on the side and managed to earn enough to buy clothing for my family.

Meanwhile, a public high school had been constructed here and Hamrick in 1932 began a 25-year tenure as principal.

Since retiring, he has traveled all he can, but church, civic and business duties don't allow as much free time as he'd like.

Hamrick currently is serving his fourth or fifth four-year term on the town board of commissioners and he is chairman of the government's finances and prepares the annual budget. He served as mayor one term in the early 1930s.

Other activities his book might not men-

All Faiths Placing Trust In G-W's Trust Into Future

A Catholic and Presbyterian in a friendly race to see which can give the most to a Baptist College neither had ever seen or heard of might strike some as strange.

That is until you learn a Lutheran is the one who solicited them for the gift.

Gardner-Webb College, Baptist and operating under a free enterprise philosophy of no federal or state aid, has found such incidents becoming common as the people of this area rally behind its drive for $1,125,000. The drive is now well over $1 million and just over half completed.

Charles Mauney, general manager of Mauney Hosiery and Carolina Throwing Co. in Kings Mountain and also area chairman for the college drive, told of approaching the Catholic and Presbyterian more in a kidding way than in a serious manner—he was surprised at the response.

Harold R. Domenico of Bethlehem, Pa., a Catholic and his fellow management consultant with Leonardt and Sullican of North Arlingtinn, N. J., Richard R. Hawkins of Roselawn, Pa., agreed to give $150 each. Domenico got to thinking about the Presbyterian gift being equal to his and decided to up his pledge to $500. Hawkins learned of the deed and after a weekend visit with his parents in Pennsylvania told the Lutheran campaign chairman to up his pledge to $501. The name of his brother, William Hawkins who was killed in France during World War II will be memorialized on a bronze plaque at the college.

Since neither has ever seen the campus, are new to this area and will in two months be moving into another section, Dr. Eugene Poston, president, has issued a standing invitation for a personal guided tour of the campus for the two young men.

Asked why he, a Catholic, gave to the campaign, Domenico answered, "It is good to give." It is simple but it says a great deal in the bridging of understanding between men of all beliefs.

This Year

Capital Gifts Campaign:

Under the leadership of Mr. R. Patrick Spangler, over one million dollars in cash and pledges have been received by the college. We will top our goal of $1,125,000. The Board of Trustees, the Board of Advisors, Faculty and Staff, Cleveland and Rutherford Counties have been solicited.

Associate Degree in Nursing:

After approximately two years of study and preparation, this program was initiated with forty-three students. Grants from Cleveland Memorial Hospital and Rutherford Hospital have made this possible. Provisional accreditation by the State of North Carolina was approved when the program began.

New Dormitory Complete:

A new residence hall for men has been completed and is being occupied by men students. This structure was completed at a cost of $179,589.40.

Charles I. Dover Campus Center

Construction Begun:

Work on this $531,275.00 structure has begun and it is anticipated that this building will be ready for use by July 1, 1966. This structure will house a new cafeteria, recreation area, bookstore, faculty dining room, lounge, student publication office, and faculty offices.

Bost Swimming Pool Enclosure

Nearing Completion:

Use of this facility is anticipated soon. Another teaching station for physical education and recreational use makes this $61,000 building a welcomed addition to our campus.

Debt Liquidated:

The indebtedness of the college was completely liquidated.

Dedication of Three Buildings:

The formal dedication of the Bost Physical Education Building, the Lutz-Yelton Residence Hall, and the A. T. Withrow Science Building was made on Founders-Homecoming Day. These buildings will stand as a testimony to the interest of these families in our college and its most important asset, the students.

E. B. Hamrick Building:

The paint has been removed and this building now blends in with the rest of our campus. Two coats of waterproofing have been applied to the bricks.

Registration on IBM:

For the first time, registration of our students was accomplished on this equipment. Over eleven hundred registrants were processed in an eight hour period.

Additional Property Acquired:

The G. T. McSwain property was purchased and the building will be torn down as soon as possible. The Huggins property and the Mintz property were also purchased adding 25 acres to the campus. The total cost of the above properties was $70,000 net.

Next Year

The E. W. Spangler Memorial Stadium

Plans are on the drawing board now for this structure. It is hoped that we will be able to use this facility by the fall of 1966.

New Classroom Building

This much needed facility should be started as soon as possible. The architect is working on preliminary drawings now.

Chapel-Auditorium Building

The planning stage for this building is continuing. Gardner-Webb College needs a fine and adequate chapel and auditorium for the use of its students and the area which we serve.

Campaign

General solicitation to continue in Gaston, Mecklenburg and Cherokee Counties.

Faculty

This is becoming more and more of a problem. Competition is keen for those individuals whom we need here at Gardner-Webb. Salaries are continually rising and the state supported schools and others are able to meet this demand more readily than we. Faculty housing continues to be needed here, especially for new faculty members.

Life With The Alumni

1909—Walter B. Bostic lives at Bryson City, where he is a retired railway employee.

1915—Rev. and Mrs. Sherman H. Oakes of Route 2, Kings Mountain, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in August. She is the former Miss Eura Hamrick of Ellenboro. LARGEST ENROLLMENT

Cleveland County with 225 enrolled is by far the largest in enrollment among Tar Heel counties followed by Rutherford County with 118 students. Catawba County replaced Mecklenburg as the third largest in enrollment with 49. Mecklenburg dropped to fourth with 48 students, Forsyth has 39, Burke has 38, Gaston has 32, and McDowell County has 24 enrolled.

Guilford and Caldwell counties are tied for ninth with 20 students each followed by Lincoln County with 14, Haywood, Davidson, Cabarrus, Buncombe have 13 each and York County has 10 enrolled.

Others are Henderson, Macon, and Rowan with nine each; Yadkin, eight; Iredell, Surry and Wilkes seven each; Randolph, Rockingham, and Swain counties six each; Alamance and Wake five each; Caswell, Davie, Onslow, and Richmond four each; Alexander, Columbus, Durham, Orange, Stanley, Stokes and Transylvania three each; Bladen, Cumberland, Duplin, Jackson, Lenoir, Mitchell, Moore, Perquimans, Person, Watauga and Yancey two each; Alleghany, Ashe, Clay, Edgecomb, Hoke, Montgomery, Sampson, Washington one each.

"ALMA MATER" ALMOST CAUSED A ROMANTIC DISRUPTION

Gardner-Webb College's Alma Mater almost caused a romantic disruption in 1928.

The General Secretary-Treasurer of South Carolina Baptists, Horace G. Hammett, '21, on a recent visit to Gardner-Webb, laughingly told of how he and his future wife had a temporary "break-up" over the lyrics and words of the song which is still used by the college today as its alma mater.

"She wrote the music and I composed the lyrics but we argued so over the thing until she told me 'get out and not come back to see her anymore.' We did manage to get back together, however, and completed the song," said Rev. Hammett.

The vacationing leader of South Carolina General Board of Baptists, might wish today for more problems like writing alma maters, since he is faced with a crucial issue of national interest within his state convention.

Furman University's acceptance of $611,898 in federal monies for construction of a science-research building has precipitated strong feelings among some Baptists who oppose federal aid to Baptist schools and want the monies returned. Furman has, very recently, agreed to return the money and it will be replaced from other sources.

Turning from this pressing problem, Rev. Hammett recalled his student days at Boiling Springs High School and later his teaching experience at Boiling Springs Junior College.

He was the college's first athletic coach in all sports, along with Hubert Wells who coached football one season. It was his fortune or misfortune, depending in how you look at it, to play on the first football game ever played in Cleveland County.

It was in the fall of 1920 and B. E. "Pop" Simmons, now a Cleveland County Commissioner, was a student but it was he who arranged for the game with Gaffney, S. C., and then served as coach of the team.

The Boiling Springs lads, consisting of Hammett, Simmons, Clyde Jones, later on

All-Southern football player at Wake Forest, and C. C. "Cobby" Horn, now a Shelby attorney, and others practiced all week for the game. They played dressed in four or five pairs of pants for padding and won the game 6-0. However, a Falls boy broke his arm in the game and grid play was prohibited at the school for several years afterward.

Hammett went on to play at Furman University where he graduated in 1926. "In those days Clemson used to beg us not to beat them too badly—things have changed," grinned the still athletic looking minister.

Personalities at the Boiling Springs High School were many but Hammett remembers Professor J. D. Huggins, Sr., with warmth. "He came to see me about my application while I was working in a cornfield at my father's home in the White Plains Community of Cherokee, S.C. He gave me an opportunity to attend school and I will always remember him as a fine spirit reaching out to poor youths and giving them an education," recalled the minister.

He continued by expressing his pride and joy in the fact that Gardner-Webb College remains as one of few colleges today with a heart for young people seeking an education but with no way to pay for it.

While teaching at Boiling Springs Junior College, he made the decision to enter the ministry and also met and courted his future wife, Lorene Woody of Woodsdale near Rosboro, N. C. Miss Woody, a graduate of Meredith College, was also teaching at the junior college.

The couple now has two grown sons, Woody Hammett, Baptist Student Union Director of the Columbia, S. C., area and Lamar Hammett who is a branch bank manager of S. C. National Bank of Columbia, S. C. Woody graduated from Furman University and Lamar from the University of S. C.

Rev. Hammett served S. C. Baptists as assistant secretary-treasurer for 11 years and since 1961 has served as secretary-treasurer of the convention. "I guess, and please take it in the right vein, that I'm the closest thing to a 'bishop' South Carolina Baptists have or want."

Rev. and Mrs. Hammett strolled to the site of the old Huggin-Curtis Building before leaving campus. They looked across the rising brick and mortar of the new Charles I. Dover Campus Center and expressed delight at the progress of the school. But somehow you got the feeling they saw, in their own minds, the large white structure of previous years and perhaps faint strains of an alma mater as sung in earlier days—an alma mater so personally theirs.

O. P. HAMRICK

tion include membership on the Royster Memorial Hospital's finance committee and chairmanship of the board during 1962-63. Hamrick also is active in the community's Piedmont Area Development Assn. chapter, is treasurer of the First Baptist Church in addition to being an inactive deacon and past Sunday School official.

Also, he is a member of the board of advisors for Gardner-Webb, looks after 15 head of cattle and some farms, and rents several houses. Without pausing for breath, he declares "In my spare time I like to visit a good deal."

Hamrick was elected a vice-president in the recently organized Cleveland County Historical Society and has just completed serving as canvass chairman for the general Boiling Springs area in Gardner-Webb's Decade for Advancement campaign.

Obviously enjoying good health, the man who for six years was listed in "Who's Who in the South and Southwest" never dared hope he would feel so well as a septuagenarian. He also thinks his town and school have come a long way from those crossroads.

"I never dreamed our town would grow so or that Gardner-Webb would ever have over 1,000 students," he said with a proud, lively sparkle in his still strong eyes.

Much of what those keenly-perceptive eyes have seen soon can be read for the $1.50 price of Hamrick's book. It will be a bargain for those who know the man, the town, the school.

Gardner-Webb Songs Printed

Gardner-Webb College's Alma Mater and new Fight Song have been printed and now are being sold with proceeds going to finance purchase of blazers for the college pep band and wind ensemble.

Jerry R. Hill, chairman of the Fine Arts Department, said the Alma Mater and Fight Song have been printed for the first time in the history of the college. Printex Co. of Amsterdam, Holland, did the printing which is over a four page section with the fight song on the back page.

Written by Dr. and Mrs. Horace Hammett, '21, in the 1930's, the Gardner-Webb College Alma Mater was recently arranged by Hill for publication. The Fight Song was written this year by Hill and was used for the first time during the football season.
